

Survey for lecturers at the University of Vechta

What do you associate with the keyword "internationalisation" in the primary school teaching profession?

Participants: 45

Answers: 63

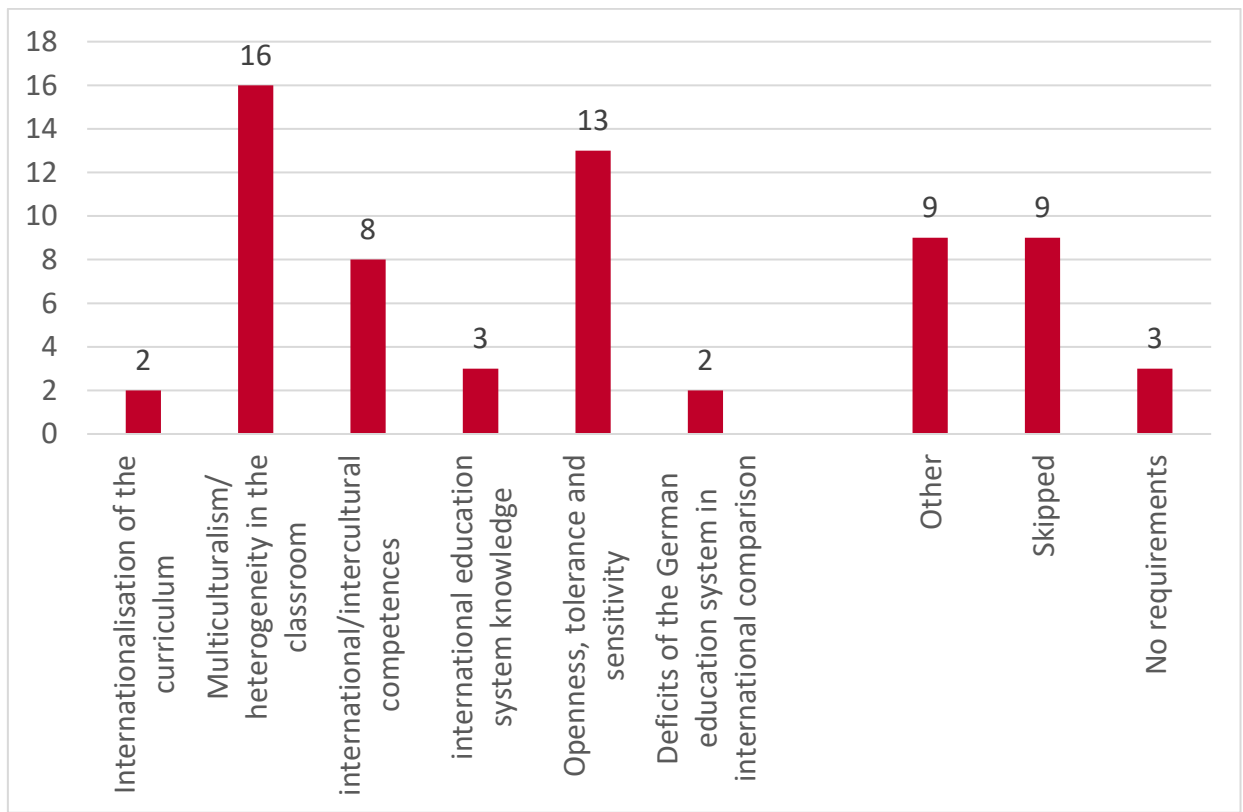

Other: Broadening horizons; lack of interest; new didactic-methodical impulses; strengthening personal competences; lack of opportunities; transculturality, opening up and changing the teaching profession for international influences.

Are there job-specific requirements as a primary school teacher that make the internationalisation of the teaching profession seem sensible?

Participants: 45

Answers: 65

Other: Variety of pedagogical and didactical topics; epochal key problems (Klafki); reflection on own goals, values and norms in primary education by differentiating them from those of other countries.